Scarlett's Psychic Secret

Unlike many young stars, she does not come from a particularly wealthy or connected family. But Scarlett Johansson was dealt the right hand to fulfill her destiny. She was born in New York City, where artistic opportunities abound. She was exposed to cinema at a young age. She even had that rare presence that no casting director can ignore.

But it is another factor—her wandering, fiery spirit—that has made her one of the most enigmatic actors working today. In the upcoming film Her, Scarlett plays a sentient computer program who falls in love with a man. As the buzz surrounding her performance grows, there seems no limit to how adventurous and creative this Sagittarius can be.

Scarlett Johansson was born on the 22nd of November, 1984. This gives her the Western sign of Sagittarius and the Chinese sign of Rat. If you were to make a list of the best places for a Sag to grow up, New York would be near the top. It brings a constant sense of energy and fire. People are famously blunt, ambitions run high, and the stunning diversity lets you travel the world in a few square miles. Indeed, describing New York is a lot like describing Sagittarius itself! Symbolised by the archer with his arrows flying through the air, this fire sign is always in search of the next big challenge.

It comes as no surprise, then, that Scarlett hit the ground running in the Big Apple. It's said that when she was only three years old, she said to her mother, "I have a fire in my brain to act." This was a clear indication of her Sagittarius nature: driven, creative and fiery. The usual starting blocks—dance classes and TV adverts—led to her first off-Broadway role at the age of 7. Movie roles began to arrive shortly after that, and by the age of 11, her performance in the 1996 film Manny & Lo had earned her a nomination for an Independent Spirit Award. Still, when it came to the mainstream success her spirit craved, Scarlett had a long road ahead of her.

How did Scarlett's Chinese sign influence her as she worked her way up the ultra-competitive ladder of child stardom? A tireless scavenger and expert networker, Rat is considered among the luckiest signs of the Chinese zodiac. It brings a work ethic and determination that is difficult to match, and blesses its natives a shrewd business sense. Scarlett would have used everything at her disposal to get the competitive edge, letting no contact or opportunity pass her by. Sagittarius, likewise, is determined to reach any goal it has set. This combination of psychic forces may explain how Scarlett, at the tender age of 13, found herself opposite Robert Redford in the highly-acclaimed film The Horse Whisperer. Yet even this—a good performance in a standout film—was not enough to propel her to stardom.

At this stage in her career, the negative side of Sagittarius began to show. As one of the four mutable signs that marks a change of season (along with Gemini, Virgo and Pisces), Sag is prone to indecision and aimless wandering. Scarlett continued to work on-screen during her high school years, and landed some decent roles, but there were also some bombs (e.g. Eight-Legged Freaks), and viewing audiences did not especially take notice of her. Then, after graduating high school in 2002, she applied to study film at Purchase University in New York, and was denied acceptance to the program.

Having it to do over again, the admissions committee probably would have let her in. The following year, Sophia Coppola's Lost in Translation finally etched Scarlett Johansson into the public imagination. The film itself was imbued with Sagittarian spirit—a momentary, fleeting spark between two characters marks the transition from one phase of life to another. In fact, Scarlett's own spiritual energy is arguably what made the film resonate so strongly with audiences.

The film was also a reflection her off-screen love life, which has been characterised by stops and starts with some of Hollywood's sexiest men (Jared Leto, Josh Hartnett, Justin Timberlake to name a few). Sagittarius loves a burst of new romance—but is often looking to move on before things get complicated. Commitment is one of the few things this sign tends to fear. When Scarlett divorced actor Ryan Reynolds after only two years, it seemed as though she might be a romantic gypsy for life, preferring the free-spirited approach in matters of love. But September 2013 found her wearing another engagement ring—this time not from a movie star, but from a New York advertising executive.

Only time will tell whether this wild horse can be broken. But with two science fiction films releasing this year (the aforementioned Her, and the highly-anticipated thriller Under the Skin), Scarlett's creative force is only getting freer and stronger as she moves into a more mature phase of her career. Surely the Rat and archer have many more surprises in store.

Aries (Mar 21 - Apr 19)

If your current flame is starting to sputter, it may be time for a new candle—as in new inspiration! It's no secret that a good challenge does wonders for a stalled love affair. Find something that excites you both, something completely unexpected, and share in it together. Your flame will be burning bright in no time. Meanwhile, ask yourself: What is ordinary? Amazing psychic experiences are happening all around you, all the time. It's only a matter of seeing the intricate ways in which you are connected to others. A new romance calls for emotional openness. The more honest you are about what you want, the more likely you are to get it.

Taurus (Apr 20 - May 20)

It's often said that a relationship—whether it's a romance or a close friendship—is hard work. But is that really an accurate description? Although far from perfect, the deepest connections are characterised by grace and flow. So ask yourself how you can argue less and laugh more—it won't be as hard as you think. If your emotions have been topsy-turvy, connect to your body with a new yoga or pilates instructor. Physical and psychic health are not so far apart, after all. Are you in the dating game? Take a deep breath and be forward with someone who has been on your mind. The eye contact you've shared is grounds enough to approach them—if they don't approach you first!

Gemini (May 21 - June 21)

Logical thinking on one hand, intuitive dreaming on the other. Why do these two things seem to pull you in different directions? Think of it as a kind of spiritual bicycle. When you veer completely to one side, you lose your balance. When you give each side its due, you find yourself gliding effortlessly towards your goal. A potential suitor may not seem right at first glance, but don't write them off in a hurry. A heartfelt gesture may cause you to see things in a different light. Meanwhile, a past flame resurfaces with little warning. Oh yes, the attention is nice, but basking in it too long will send the wrong signal. If you really have moved on, better let them know.

Libra (Sept 23 - Oct 22)

Wearing your heart on your sleeve makes you all the more fashionable, dear Libra. Connect your wardrobe to your emotions and see what you've been missing! A big change on the domestic front falls into the "not easy, but for the best" category. You are the bright spot in someone else's life, providing inspiration and psychic stability. Give of yourself and receive more of others. With regards to your fitness regime, beware the tendency to slack off during the second half of the month. At the end of the day, making excuses is not nearly as fun as exceeding expectations! A planned financial move is smart and logical, but best delayed until after the 11th.

Scorpio (Oct 23 - Nov 21)

Taking care of business is precisely what you're in the mood for—and you've got the extra energy to do it. When someone says you're being too serious, don't take them too seriously. They'll be whistling a different tune when they see how much you've accomplished! Words have a tendency to get away from you, so err on the side of verbal caution. Your psychic strength is better channeled into action, which do speak for themselves after all. Romance is another story. Eye contact is the first sign, but to move beyond it, one of you has to say something! It doesn't have to be much. A simple 'hello' can open the door to something else.

Sagittarius (Nov 22 - Dec 21)

Momentum has been on your side lately, and a handful of much-needed changes have come your way. Now is the perfect time to pause and reflect on what those changes really mean. Taking a break might not be easy—especially when there is so much to do and explore—but quiet time has a balancing effect on your spirit. Meanwhile, a disagreement with a close friend needs a solution that doesn't put either of you in the wrong. On the dating front, you're likely to run into some sugar-coating—especially with online profiles. Take everything with a grain of salt. The thing about Mr. Right is that he doesn't need to brag about it!

Cancer (June 22 - July 22)

Set plans are more like casual suggestions this month. In other words, be prepared to take the scenic route! It's not just about getting from A to B, but living fully in the space between those two points. The opportunity you've been waiting for is actually waiting for you along this winding, spontaneous road. Don't put too much weight on the careless words of someone dear. Tune in to them on a psychic level and things will come into perfect focus. Your living space could do with some Feng Shui. How can your habitat better reflect the person you are now? Lean on a friend—or a professional—for harmonious advice.

Leo (July 23 - Aug 22)

Early in the month, an overwhelming urge to speak your mind may land you in hot water. Best keep a tight lip until after the 10th, when your blunt observations will be better received! Have you been missing romantic opportunities due to your own expectations? Love is an exploration of the unknown. Embrace surprises and you could find yourself embracing someone special. When it comes to business or financial dealings, now is not the time for hemming and hawing. Meticulous and decisive action is best. A friend goes back on her word, but may come through in the end. Showing your disappointment is healthy, but you'll be glad you didn't overreact.

Virgo (Aug 23 - Sep 22)

Friends and lovers are prone to sharing closely guarded secrets with you this month, so get ready for a juicy story. Just don't play fast and loose with privileged information! The integrity of a well-kept promise brings rewards in time. You may also find something of value in a public place, but the best way to cash in is to return it. Patience and long-sightedness are priceless. One thing you won't have to wait for is a new romantic prospect—it practically falls in your lap, but is it real? You won't know until you step into the present and embrace all possibilities. What you've been waiting for all this time could be right under your nose, where you least expected it.

Capricorn (Dec 22 - Jan 19)

New acquaintances are in no short supply, but true friends are a different kettle of fish!

Someone who has been there for you in the past is in dire need of your attention—even if it means saying 'no thanks' to something new and exciting. Coming through for this person now sends ripples of positive energy into the future. If getting in shape is at the top of your list, look out for high-calorie temptations—if given half a chance, they'll bypass all logic and head straight for your stomach. Keep plenty of fruits and juices on hand to meet the need for something sweet. Focus on what feels good hours later. A new hairstyle or outfit reinforces positive change.

Aquarius (Jan 20 - Feb 18)

If you could go back ten years and do something you've always wanted to do, what would it be? The truth is that it's never too late to start—so don't waste time thinking about what could have been. A timely piece of advice, which may come during dreams or waking hours, will illuminate the path ahead. Be nice to yourself if you're in the hunt for new love. When you feel good about who you are, the right prospect comes directly to you and a flame is effortlessly sparked. That lingering financial problem can finally be solved, but the window of opportunity is brief. If at all possible, save your signature until after the 11th.

Pisces (Feb 19 - Mar 20)

When it comes to daily work, your focus is sharp. No item can survive your 'to do' list for long. And when it comes to play, there's no harm in a little extra enjoyment—or a lot, for that matter! Forget the nagging little voice that says you shouldn't. If it makes you feel happy and healthy, don't think twice—you've earned it. As for that new style you've been contemplating, there's only one way to find out if it works. Success and failure are closely related; it's all in the willingness to try. Your partner is trying to tell you something through his or her actions. Do a little detective work and your discovery may pleasantly surprise you.

Healing Broken Friendships

By Barney Battles

A client rang me up recently and asked why she was having trouble finding the kind of relationship she wanted. When I tuned into her on a psychic level, I saw that the relationships she did have were not being nurtured. Specifically, there was palpable friction between her and an old friend. This negative energy was blocking her from opening up to a new relationship.

When I suggested that unresolved issues with a friend were linked to her troubled love life, there was a long silence. She intuitively realised the connection. It was a moment of insight for us both! With so many lost or broken friendships hanging over our heads, how can we expect other areas of our lives to be miraculously different?

The fact is, friendships are a basic part of the mind-body-spirit complex. When a friendship goes off track, negative energies can linger in our psychic field. While not as strong as the emotional bonds created through intimate partnerships, friendships are powerful in their own way. Taking stock of the broken friendships in our lives—and taking action to heal them—can be a profound and transformational process, with surprising results across the board.

Finding the shock waves

Some friendships have naturally short life-spans, and fade away without leaving any trace of animosity. Such friendships usually serve a specific purpose, whether material, spiritual or both. When that purpose has been served, each goes happily on her way. They might cross each others' minds now and then, but when this happens it is positive and characterised by well-wishes.

Other friendships have deeper karmic connections which cannot be undone so easily. Even if such friends haven't spoken in years, there remains a high level of energy between them. When they show up in each others' thoughts, it is generally an intense experience, and not always positive. These are the ones to look for—friendships that send shock waves through our systems and cause us to react internally.

Spirit world, real world, or both

Only intuition can tell us the best way to go about healing a particular friendship. It might feel right to make a call, write a letter, or meet for coffee. There are also situations in which a former friend represents a dangerous or unhealthy regression. In these cases, renewed contact is better kept to a minimum or avoided altogether. Whatever the case, some measure of contact—even if it is only on the spiritual plane—is necessary in order for healing to take place.

A two-way street

Gratitude, forgiveness, and seeing things from another point-of-view are all necessary elements of healing a friendship—whether you are doing it psychically, by email, or face-to-face. Your friend may be entirely at fault for what happened—in this case you can focus on forgiveness, and let go of all negativity surrounding her. More often than not, it's a two-way street, and healing takes place only when you acknowledge your part. Once you've done that, you are free of the connection. You can forgive, forget, and grow in wisdom as you move on!

Not long after our first conversation, my client rang me up again to say that she had made amends with her fallen-out friend, and while they might never be as close as they were before, the animosity and negativity had vanished. I could also hear something else in her voice—she was ready to embrace the possibility of new love.

How to Date a Sagittarius

♐ Breathing Room

Just as fire needs oxygen to burn, Sagittarius needs plenty of space to make a relationship work. Hurrying to put a label on it won't do you any favours. Coming on too strong? There's a surefire way to extinguish the spark! Indeed, this sign's constant thirst for adventure can make a solid commitment hard to get. The best approach is to be playful. In fact, avoid putting too much emphasis on a steady relationship at first. Sag loves the thrill of the hunt, and is hypnotised by spontaneity. If you want to keep them coming back for more, be unpredictable and keep them guessing. The good news is that once you are committed, your chances of long-term happiness are increased by Sag's creative approach to romance.

♐ Go with the Flow

Sagittarians are quick to laugh, and willing to follow a conversation wherever it leads. In fact, one way to drive them crazy (and not in a good way!) is to stay on one topic—or in one place—for too long. Whether you've just started dating or have moved into relationship territory, your ability to flow from one thing to the next is paramount. If it helps, keep a mental list of new places to go and new things to talk about. A surprise trip overseas will score you more points than you care to count! Avoid displays of jealousy, or trying to command your lover's attention all the time. Their mind will wander, but your playfulness and generosity of spirit will always turn those sparkling eyes back in your direction.

♐ In the Bedroom

The long and short of it is, if you're not willing to try new things between the sheets, you may as well forget it! Your lover's innate sense of adventure is fully active behind closed doors—but so is their sense of honesty. So whether you like something or not, be honest and say so. Sag wants you both to feel satisfied by sex, so take your time and thoroughly explore each other. You'll be glad you did!

♐ Always the Optimist

A positive, ambitious outlook is one of this sign's gifts. Nothing turns a Sag off like the regular use of words like no and can't—or worse yet, having no goals in life. Your Sag crush will always encourage you to aim high and believe in yourself—and they need the same treatment from you. Sure, a little caution can help ground them and put things in perspective, but if you're all about playing it safe, you'll find your lover growing distant—and eventually cutting you loose. The secret is not to act positive, but to be positive. Sagittarius will know the difference! To this over-achieving sign, a lover that does not help you toward your goals is no lover at all.

♐ The Best Policy

Sag may love the unexpected, but its approach to matters of the heart is surprisingly straightforward. Honesty is a treasure to be guarded and respected, so it's best to say what you mean and mean what you say. Actually, Sag can be painfully blunt, to the point of causing embarrassment in public places. Lest you end up with a glass of water in the face, use tranquil words and body language to cool your lover down when things get heated. The truth is, that stark sense of honesty can be used to your advantage. If you're wondering how they feel about something—marriage and children, perhaps—don't beat around the bush. Ask them outright, take them at their word, and move on to the next subject. At the very least, they'll be impressed with your willingness to tell it and hear it like it is.

Priscilla is from Durban South Africa, and now lives in the UK. She has always been psychic, and much of her work involves helping people come to terms with the loss of their loved ones. She is also a popular healer, and offers courses to help you develop your intuition and healing abilities.

Priscilla has been a great traveller all her life. She has spent many years travelling and living overseas, meeting new and interesting people. She feels blessed to have psychic gifts, as they enable her to help people with issues in their lives, and to contact deceased loved ones.

When a person dies suddenly or after a long illness, it is often difficult for their loved ones to move on, due to unanswered questions and things left unsaid. The Crossing Over sessions involve communication with loved ones or spirits that have passed on. During a session, people have a chance to connect with friends or family members who have—and to have have their questions answered. Priscilla sometimes sees these spirits as light energy, and sometimes hears their voices. In either case, spirits will often reach out by describing intimate details only a loved one would know.

"Whenever I am able to help someone realise their truth, find their path, or get the answers they were looking for, that's when I know it was a good psychic reading."
